Historical/Biographical Notes

The Codman Community Farms, Inc., a non-profit tax-exempt charitable corporation, was established in 1973 to work both town and privately owned farmland in Lincoln. In addition to preserving the agricultural heritage of Lincoln, the organization provides family garden plots at the former Codman farm in South Lincoln. The organization actively farms town owned land which was formerly farmland, raising various market garden vegetables, livestock, etc. In addition the organization provides educational programs, both to keep alive an awareness of Lincoln's past and to provide current information relating to agriculture, animal husbandry, etc.

Scope and Content

The collection comprises organizational records of the Codman Community Farms, including articles of organization, and by-laws; also financial records of the 1970s prepared for annual reports, and newsletters and clippings, also from the 1970s. The bulk of the records are between 1972 and 1980. The records comprise approximately 0.25 linear foot.
